Frequently Asked Questions

What is Pro-Nox™?

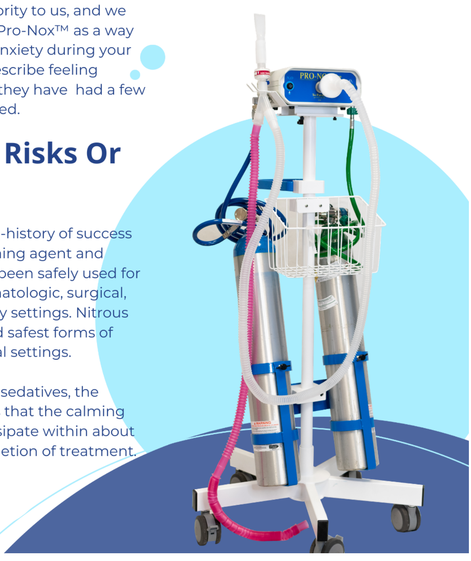
Pro-Nox™ is an innovative analgesia system that involves the use of a patient-controlled, 50/50 combination of nitrous oxide and oxygen to minimize anxiety and discomfort from a procedure under local anesthesia. Nitrous oxide is a well-known sedative (once called laughing gas) that calms the central nervous system, allowing patients to feel comfortable during necessary or elective procedures.

How is Pro-Nox™ Administered?

Here is one of the reasons why Pro-Nox™ is so appealing, and why a large majority of our patients request this service: the controlled sedative effects are in the hands of the patient – literally. This aspect alone, regardless of the proven effects of nitrous oxide, have a calming effect on patients who may feel nervous about their treatment.

Will I Feel Anything During The Procedure?

Patient comfort is a high priority to us, and we have elected to incorporate Pro-Nox™ as a way to dissociate your pain and anxiety during your treatment. Some patients describe feeling pressure but no pain or as if they have had a few glasses of wine and are relaxed.



Are There Any Risks Or Side Effects?

Pro-Nox™ is based on a long-history of success using nitrous oxide as a calming agent and analgesic. Nitrous oxide has been safely used for more than a century in dermatologic, surgical, dental, and labor and delivery settings. Nitrous oxide is one of the oldest and safest forms of sedation to be used in clinical settings.

In comparison to oral and IV sedatives, the advantage of nitrous oxide is that the calming effects occur rapidly and dissipate within about 5-10 minutes after the completion of treatment.
